MARITIME PROFESSIONAL TRAINING
Fort Lauderdale, Florida

COVID-19 has impacted countries around the world and has disrupted vital sectors of the global supply chain for food, medicine, and transportation. The shipping industry has been very hard hit with many mariners out of work and many more stranded aboard vessels with no relief in sight. Flag and Port State administrations have been working to define policies and procedures to safely re-engage these global supply chains.

MPT has been in communication with local, state, and federal authorities and has implemented procedures designed to maintain a safe work environment in support of the maritime industry. MPT will require all staff, students, and visitors to comply with these procedures at all times while on the MPT campus facilities. In compliance with local and federal guidance, please review the following:

- 1. Be familiar with the posted CDC guidelines for personal hygiene and handwashing, these are posted throughout the facility.
- 2. Please pay attention to social distancing measures that are in force and maintain 6' of separation whenever possible, if not possible you must have a face mask on. This includes all interior spaces as well as outside areas of the MPT Campus.
- 3. Face Masks must be carried by all staff, students, and visitors; and must be worn in the front office, bathrooms, and any common area where social distancing may not be maintained.
- 4. Students from outside the US must comply with any applicable international travel restrictions and any self-quarantine requirements prior to participating in classes at MPT or visiting the MPT campuses.
- 5. MPT will continue to carry out enhanced cleaning and disinfecting protocols, including the use of virucides, disinfectant fogging, UV sterilization, and HEPA air filtration.
- 6. Hand sanitizer stations will be positioned around the facility, please make use of these as well as washing your hands frequently. Washing your hands with soapy water for 20 seconds has proved most effective in killing any virus on hands.

MPT takes your health and safety very seriously, please help us by being considerate of others and help ensure our community is as safe as possible.
